Abstract

The recruitment is the main function of HR department and the recruitment process is the first step towards making the competitive quality and the recruitment strategic advantage for the association. A quantitative method used to analyze this study, the researchers prepared questionnaire and distributed at Telecommunication Companies in Erbil-Kurdistan. The objective of this research paper is to determine the recruitment and selection procedures in organizations, and finding out the methodologies that are involved in the process. Moreover, finding out how being qualified and having certificates affects the recruitment process, and how different criteria such as gender, race, and culture effect on it as well. The survey was conducted at Telecom Companies. Employees filled the survey. Data was collected and Statistical Package for Social Sciences (SPSS) version 23 was used as the statistical analysis tool while descriptive statistics were calculated and used in the interpretation of findings. The population of this study is approximately 220 employees, The researchers distributed 80 questionnaires, but 69 questionnaires were filled by the participants, accordingly my sample size was initially a total of (60) surveys, and 100% turned back which means 60 surveys. Data for the research paper was collected through a questionnaire paper distributed to employees working at Telecom Companies. The researchers found that there is no difference in candidates’ race and gender in internal promotion at Telecommunication Companies in Erbil-Kurdistan, therefore the researchers answered the first research question, and the second research question which stated that within our organization, the researchers found that the majority of participants believed that selection methods used (application forms, assessment centers, psychometric tests, interviews, CV data, references, group interviews) are important.

I. INTRODUCTION

Recruitment is the process of discovering or selecting and hiring or best qualified candidate from inside or outside of the organization for a job opportunity. The recruitment process includes examining the necessities of work, drawing employee to that occupation, screening and selecting.
candidates, contracting, and coordinating the new employee to the association. Also, HR department responsible to choose the right person or best qualified candidate for the post for organization needs (Abdullah & Othman, 2019). The recruitment is the main function of HR department and the recruitment process is the first step towards making the competitive quality and the recruitment strategic advantage for the association. Recruitment is the process of discovering and catching qualified or appropriate applicant to fill the vacant position (Anwar & Abdullah, 2021). Recruitment process includes a systematic procedure from sourcing the candidates to orchestrating and leading the interviews and requires numerous resources and time. The methods and procedures used to acquire an understanding about jobs are called job analysis. There are mainly two sources of recruitment: internal and external (Gardi et al. 2020). Selection is a process of evaluating and interviewing candidates for a particular job and selecting the right person for the right position. Selection is a process of hiring suitable people for job who can successfully perform the job (Prabhuh et al. 2020). When there is vacant position in an organization Human resource Management take a responsibility for finding and selecting the right person for this vacant position. Right man for right job is the main goal of selection (Anwar & Shukur, 2015). Selecting process includes a progression of steps to be taken after for picking the suitable employee for the empty position. This procedure begins after recruitment and partitions the competitors in two sections the individuals who will be offered work and those won't be. There is a need of all around composed determination process in light of the fact that at exactly that point right kind of applicant can be chosen and unsatisfactory candidates are rejected (Sultan et al. 2020). The selection process changes from association to association and even from department to another department inside of the same association. Like in a few associations therapeutic examination is done after definite choice while in other it might be done before conclusive choice (Abdullah & Othman, 2015). However, every association plans the choice procedure according to its need. The selection process involves many steps such as preliminary reception of application, screening, interviewing, test, medical test, references and final decision of hiring. Organizational performance can be measured using indicators in Efficiency, Effectiveness, Relevance to Stakeholders and Financial Viability (Gardi, 2021). Human Resources has created strategic worth in organizations we know and how the impact of HR on organizational performance has been measured using the four kinds of indicators. However, Strategic Worth is situational not absolute, and therefore must be judged within each organization (Ismael et al. 2021). To create strategic worth, HR must understand what performance is important to the organization, be current in HR expertise on the important issues and lead the organization to better performance (Gardi, 2021). In order to articulate its impact on organizational performance, so that the company knows what has been achieved as a result of HR, it must measure its impact and be a presence at the strategic level. Performance is a major multidimensional construct aimed to achieve results and has a strong link to strategic goals of an organization (Anwar & Abd Zebari, 2015).

II. LITERATURE REVIEW

Recruitment

Recruitment is the process of discovering or selecting and hiring or best qualified candidate from inside or the process by which organizations locate and attract individuals to fill job vacancies (Anwar & Surarchith, 2015). Recruitment is defined as a set of activities for an organization to catch the attention of job applicants that have the abilities needed to help the organization achieve its objectives and goals (Othman et al. 2019). The recruitment process includes examining the necessities of work, drawing employee to that occupation, screening and selecting candidates, contracting, and coordinating the new employee to the association (Khan & Abdullah, 2019). Also, the HR department responsible to find the right person or best qualified candidate for the post an organization needs (Othman et al. 2019). Through both the assessment and job analysis and design stage organizations should be able to identify whether or not an individual currently working within the organization would be able to meet the requirements of the new position or if an individual external to the organization would be more appropriate (Anwar, 2017).

Process of recruitment

The recruitment is the main function of HR department and the recruitment process is the first step towards making the competitive quality and the recruitment strategic advantage for the association. Recruitment process includes a systematic procedure from sourcing the candidates to orchestrating and leading the interviews and requires numerous resources and time (Anwar, 2016). According to Abdulla et al. (2017), the traditional process of recruiting is starting with job description and job specification. The job description describes the work responsibilities of the successful job present. The job specification specifies the experience a person should possess in order to carry out the work (Anwar & Balcioğlu, 2016). In a traditional recruitment present individual go through 4 stages according to Abdullah & Abdul Rahman, (2015) which is clarified in figure (1).

!Diagram of Traditional Recruitment Process

Fig. 1: Traditional Recruitment Process

In the first stage the vacant position must be clarified to know how to fill this vacant position or to know what type of employee we need it to refill this position after knowing the position need to update job description and job specification (Hameed & Anwar, 2018), in the job description describe the vacant position to applicants and job specification specifies the experience a person should possess in order to carry out the work (Damit et al. 2019). On the third step identify possible sources of qualified candidates it means make a short list, filtered candidate, identify the position needs all this step to know the worthy applicant to refill the position (Anwar & Ghafoor, 2017), because when your organization need an employee must find the right person for the right position. In the final step selection of most appropriate way to communicate (Top & Ali, 2021), it is the most important step why? Because when candidates apply for this vacant position, like an organization, you should make the candidate feel confident and comfortable. Also, according to Prabhu et al. (2020), recruiting process for the big companies like Nestle the recruiting process through some different stages to recruiting employees which can be either external recruitment or internal recruitment which we will explain later in detail (Anwar & Climis, 2017). The process explains in detail in figure (2).
Methods of recruitment

According to Anwar & Qadir, (2017), in the recruitment process there are a several types of methods but which are narrow to two main methods which are:

Internal recruitment

Internal recruitment is cost efficient, to support employee satisfaction and moral. Spend some time in the recruitment or Encourage current employees before looking outside the company for talent (Abdullah & Rahman, 2015). Nothing is more disappointing the employee, who works hard to get promoted, to see someone new take over the position Deserved or desired (Demir et al. 2020). Promote within the organization involves less training and transition (Abdullah, 2019). Human resource planning to Internal recruiting because it is faster and easier to find needed employees when you planning to fill a vacant position on time and managers improve their decision making in the recruitment process using other choices (Ali & Anwar, 2021). On internal recruitment some methods would use which is (job bidding and job posting and Employee references) (Ali, 2021).

Job bidding and job posting:

- The process for notifying the company employees that a job opening exists is called a Job posting.
- authorize individuals to apply for a posted job, who presume that they possess the required...
qualifications, is done through Job bidding technique.

Employee references:
- May give you phenomenal prospects for the current suggested employees
- Current employees will waver to set down average capacity candidates.

External recruitment
Competent competitors are included to apply for job position. This Source is generally used to make recruitment for passage level occupations and skilled employments (Khan & Abdullah, 2019). Or recruiting candidates from outsourcing agenesis etc. are called as external sources of recruitment (Anwar & Abdullah, 2021). External recruitment in some case it is useful and beneficially like bringing new candidates it brings new skills and new idea for your company but in some case, it has disadvantage like less experiencing because new employee will take too much time to learn rules and points on their job (Anwar & Abdullah, 2021). Some of company recommend external recruiting because external employee they don’t think too much like an exist employee thing (Prabhu et al. 2020), some time when you want recruit internal recruitment this employee when you want hiring the position to another position he/she think she promoted and he/she want promote in salary too because when you hire employee your company should rise or promote your salary too (Ali, 2020), but for the new employee in external recruiting new employee did not think too much on a salary he/she don’t need too much when exist employee want .According to Ganeshkumar et al. (2019), there are 3 point on external recruiting is (labor market conditions, legal considerations and corporate image) (Andavar et al. 2020).

Formal
According to Abdullah & Afshar, (2019), in order to maintain organizational ability and sustain competitive advantage this will depend on the ability of the organization to attract and retain individuals with skills needed to give the organization a competitive edge (Abdullah & Rahman, 2015). The use of formal recruitment techniques could be considered the better option here as, opposed to informal recruitment, the organization can attract a wider variety of candidates giving them a considerably greater talent pool to choose from (Ali et al. 2021). ‘Formal recruitment methods have a great impact in attracting a larger pool of applicants (Abdullah, 2018).

Informal
One of the commonly approach to recruiting is the use of informal methods such as the word-of-mouth and speculative candidates. According to Saleh et al. (2021), ‘Informal recruitment methods are highly associated with smaller organizations and provide potential applicants with accurate and detailed information about the organization and the job’ (Faraj et al. 2021). According to Abdullah & Othman, (2016), research strongly recommends that informal recruitment methods achieve a better selection of well qualified candidates than formal methods (Abdullah & Othman, 2021).

Selection
It is a process of evaluating and interviewing candidates for a particular job and selecting the right person for the right position (Abdullah & Abdul Rahman, 2015). Once the organization has decided on the appropriate means through which they will recruit potential candidates for the job their next task is to identify the most appropriate and effective method to use in order to select the right person. When there is vacant position in an organization (Anwar & Abdullah, 2021). Human resource Management take a responsibility for finding and selecting the right person for this vacant position (Anwar & Shukur, 2015).

Process of Selection
Selecting process includes a progression of steps to be taken after for picking the suitable employee for the empty position (Anwar & Abd Zebari, 2015). This procedure begins after recruitment and partitions the competitors in two sections the individuals who will be offered work and those won’t be (Anwar & Surarchith, 2015). There is a need of all around composed determination process in light of the fact that at exactly that point right kind of applicant can be chosen and unsatisfactory candidates are rejected. The selection process changes from association to association and even from department to another department inside of the same association (Anwar, 2017). Like in a few associations therapeutic examination is done after definite choice while in other it might be done before conclusive choice (Ali, 2016). However, every association plans the choice procedure according to its need. According to Anwar, (2016), some organizations may give importance to various tests, while others may emphasize interviews and reference checks. Similarly, a single brief selection interview might be enough for applicants for lower-level positions, while applicants for managerial jobs might be interviewed by a number of experts (Ali, 2014). Also, according to Abdulla et al. (2017), the recruiting process through some steps which detailed in figure (3).
Organizational performance

According to Anwar & Balcioglu, (2016), performance refers to the degree of achievement of the mission at the workplace that builds up an employee job. Organizations compete with one another, consciously seeking advantage (Hameed & Anwar, 2018). A major future of that completion is competitive imitation (Anwar & Ghafoor, 2017). Poor performance ranking is interpreted by potential competitors as indications, that a practice does not work or a market does not exist thus inhabitant imitation and competition, whereby reducing the competitive pressure and improving relative performance (Anwar & Climis, 2017). Good performance rankings, on the other hand, not only stimulate admiration; they also encourage imitation and competition that tend to erode a favorable position, Organizations seek to emulate the performance successes of others by emulating their organizational forms and practices (Anwar & Qadir, 2017).

III. METHODOLOGY

Research design

A quantitative method used to analyze this study, the researchers prepared questionnaire and distributed at Telecommunication companies in Erbil-Kurdistan. The questionnaire consisted of two separate parts, the first parts of the questionnaire focus on demographic analysis and the second part consisted of questions related to the recruitment and training.
Research objective

The objective of this research paper is to determine the recruitment and selection procedures in organizations, and finding out the methodologies that are involved in the process. Moreover, finding out how being qualified and having certificates affects the recruitment process, and how different criteria such as gender, race, and culture effect on it as well.

Sampling design

The survey was conducted at Telecom Companies. Employees filled the survey. Data was collected and Statistical Package for Social Sciences (SPSS) version 23 was used as the statistical analysis tool while descriptive statistics were calculated and used in the interpretation of findings. The population of this study is approximately 220 employees, I distributed 80 questionnaires, but 69 questionnaires received from participants, however only 60 questionnaires were properly filled out by the participants, accordingly my sample size was initially a total of (60) surveys, and %100 was turned back which means 60 surveys.

Data collection

Data for the research paper was collected through a questionnaire paper distributed to employees working at Telecom Company. Telecom Company was a good place to start this in because it has many employees with different backgrounds and qualifications. 60 survey papers were distributed to employees that were mostly in HR department, the survey consisted of four parts; Biography, Recruitment, Selection, and Organization Performance. Finding and discussion

The following tables are taken by analyzing data by using SPSS version 23.0 and using descriptive and frequency analyze. As we can see in the first table most of employees are in the young age, near 62 Percentage is between 18-29 years. It is a good point because young employees have more performance and ability to learn in a modern way. Sometimes every company needs old employees because old employees have a lot of experiences and skills to aim the company or organization. As for participants’ gender, it was found that 71.7 percent is male and only 28.3 percent is female. This data explains us what? Show us most employees are male and male can work and find work easily than female. In some case culture is responsible in this situation because don’t let female work easily. As for participants’ level of education, it was found that 63.3 percent have a bachelor certificate. In this case it explains us most people here after college search and find a job exactly after bachelor certificate maybe they want to feel responsible to their family.

IV. CONCLUSION

This is the conclusion chapter. Here the research questions are answered and the limitations and contributions of the study are analyzed with a gap for further research on the subject. In terms of first research question which stated that considering gender and race for internal promotion, the researchers found that there is no difference in candidates’ race and gender in internal promotion at Telecommunication Company in Erbil-Kurdistan, therefore the researchers answered the first research question, and the second research question which stated that Within our organization, selection methods used (application forms, assessment centers, psychometric tests, interviews, CV data, references, group interviews) are important, the researchers found that the majority of participants believed that Telecommunication, selection methods used (application forms, assessment centers, psychometric tests, interviews, CV data, references, group interviews) are important.
